

True Knowledge Mobile

This version of trueknowledge.com is designed for small screens; principally the iPhone but workably on other devices (Blackberry, Opera, Windows Mobile). On mobile devices it is essential to minimise exercise for the user and communicate the functionality of the site given the input/output constraints.

Mobile Site – Knowledge addition

These pages outline a possible knowledge addition process on a mobile device.

The amount of information that a user must provide for general knowledge addition (as opposed to specific K/A such as adding a shop) makes this challenging on a small device. We will have to be watchful of the quality of knowledge provided through any mobile interface.
